Macallan 60 Years Old Laliq Decanter

"Curiously Small Stills Decanter" Highlands, Speyside This, the fourth, edition in The Six Pillars Collection is one of the oldest and rarest whiskies ever bottled by Distillery.

The Macallan 60 years old was drawn from some of the house's oldest stocks. This whisky was housed in five sherry butts, made from a mix of Spanish and American oak and filled over 66 years ago - on the 9th and 10th of November 1950. The whisky was bottled at a strength of 53,5 % vol.

The copper cap on the crystal stopper is made from an old Macallan copper spirit still. Presented in a high-polish black lacquer box, each decanter is individually numbered – one of 400 in this special limited edition.

The Macallan Laliq bottle is a collaboration between the Macallan Speyside Distillery and the French crystal house of Laliq.

One Crystal Decanter and original presentation box.
